Getting Found in the Desert

Last month our youth went on a pilgrimage to Arizona. For them this was the culmination of four years of work, programming, and planning. They will present a program on their experiences next month for the parish. While in Arizona, they enjoyed the beauty of the desert landscapes. Seeing the pictures on their blog reminded me of my experiences in the desert on the Sinai Peninsula while on a trip to the Holy Land. That trip for me was a spiritual pilgrimage, just as our youth's trip was for them.

The desert has been a place for divine encounter for millennia. From Moses, to Jesus, to Anthony and the other desert fathers, the seemingly lifeless landscape of arid wilderness has been the locale of meaningful encounters with the divine presence. It is ironic that such powerful experiences occur in such inhospitable places. Deserts are dangerous. They are full of creatures that may harm us. The weather is often extreme. The lack of food, water, shelter, and other necessities make them a place to be avoided, unless one is well prepared. Still, in the midst of such a harsh environment one could find a burning bush, a ministering angel, or a guiding vision.

It may be that we find ourselves close to God in the desert because we also find ourselves close to temptation and death. Only there, where we encounter our own demons, can we truly be open to encounter God. It may also be that the journey through the desert itself opens us up to God's presence. What I found on my pilgrimage to the Holy Land, and what I believe our youth found in Arizona, is that the very act of embarking on a pilgrimage, of setting out on a spiritual journey, seeking and expecting to encounter God along the way, creates an attitude of openness and acceptance that gives God the opportunity to reach us.

Another thing about pilgrimage in the desert, the journey can be difficult. Therefore, one must choose wisely what one brings along. Along the way we may discover that we are carrying excess baggage. It may become necessary to let some stuff go in order to reach our goal. We discover quickly on a desert trek what is needed and what is not. Anything that weighs us down or slows our progress must be dropped along the way. It must not be allowed to prevent us from getting to where we want to be.

A desert journey makes a great metaphor for the spiritual life. I am delighted that our youth got the opportunity to spend some time in an unfamiliar and even uncomfortable place so they could intentionally seek an encounter with God. Maybe the rest of us can take a few cues from them. Putting one's self on a journey, or in a situation, or at least in the right frame of mind to be open to God's power and presence can be done closer to home too. We can take mini pilgrimages anytime. It could be as simple as pausing at some point during your day and praying that God manifest his presence in your life today.

I hope you'll join me on Sunday, September 8 for a special breakfast between our morning services and a presentation by the youth who went on the pilgrimage this summer. They will tell us about how they encountered God in the desert.

July 2019

The July vestry meeting was held on Tuesday, July 9. The parish's net operating income for June was still lower than our monthly expenses, but not nearly as dramatically as in previous months. Our year-to-date situation is still positive. Vestry sincerely thanks all parishioners for their monthly pledges and contributions. One other financial situation of note is that our Parishioner's Ministry, which makes small financial grants to individuals in need, particularly for housing and utility costs, has been quickly running out of its monthly budget lately due to increased need in our community. Please prayerfully consider whether you are able to make a donation to Parishioner's Ministry in order to increase this ministry's ability to help our neighbors.

At the July meeting the vestry continued its discussion of the book The Agile Church, in the context of beginning its strategic planning process, and had a good conversation about priorities, abilities, and the future outlook of the church. The vestry also began examining the parish's responses to the four questions that were posted on the walls of the church earlier in the summer. We are grateful to parishioners for taking the questions to heart. Vestry also approved some proposals from the Community Café board, including a request to make some needed upgrades to the Canterbury Hall kitchen.

As always, approved vestry minutes are available on our website ("Clergy, Staff & Vestry" under the "About Us" tab), and parishioners are always welcome to attend vestry meetings. Meetings are scheduled for the second Tuesday of the month at 7pm in room 324.

OVER THE EDGE

Thursday, October 17
Fraser Centre
219 W. Beaver Avenue

Again this year, Interfaith Human Services and FaithCentre will be raising money for the important work that they do with an Over the Edge event. For the opportunity to rappel down the side of the 12-story Fraser Centre, participants commit to raising $1,000 in donations for the charities. This year's overall goal is $109,000.

St. Andrew's is represented in this effort by Fr. Jeff, who was one of the top money raisers last year, and for his first time, our Senior Warden, Steven Smith! Because they have registered as a team, Fr. Jeff and Steven need to raise a combined total of $2,000 to go over the edge. St. Andrew's has contributed matching funds of $1,000 from the Kathy Palmer fund leaving only $1,000 to raise. You can see the current fundraising totals below. There is still a lot of time from now until October, and we can surely raise more than the minimum by then.

TO DONATE

A donation to either "Edger" supports both and benefits IHS and FaithCentre. But a little friendly competition couldn't hurt!

NEW NURSERY COORDINATOR

Welcome to our new Nursery Coordinator, Natalie Gahm!

Natalie moved to State College in 2018. A cradle Episcopalian, her fond memories of attending services with her mom and grandma in her home state of Maryland led her to look for Episcopal churches in State College. Natalie is “so grateful to have found St. Andrew’s!” As an adult, church “brings a calmness and peace to [her] soul” that she has sought and struggled to attain.

Natalie attends the 8 o’clock service and loves the “old-fashioned” language and simplicity of Rite I, and of course the “warmth, charm, and personalities of [her] fellow eight-o’clockers!”

If you have a child in the nursery, you may be hearing some insect facts mixed in with the Bible stories this year. Natalie has degrees in Entomology and has worked in both research and outreach and education at Oklahoma State, University of Maryland Extension, and most recently Penn State. Despite this, she was not always interested in insects.

“No, despite briefly hoarding praying mantids as a child and having a lifelong phobia of wasps (STILL DO), I didn’t develop my passion for entomology until the summer of 2009 when I examined a dragonfly up close for the first time and realized that, by studying insects, I would never run out of fascinating things to learn! I love identifying insects and educating inquiring minds, so please feel free to bring me your questions and creepy crawlies, fellow parishioners! “ Her favorite insect is the leafhopper (“I just adore those little guys!”) with the mantidfly a close second (“something about them just feels magical when you get to actually see one out in nature, and their larvae have a really cool relationship with spiders!”)

Some other things you may not know about Natalie:

- she has “never intentionally eaten insects for a meal, snack, excitement, or extra credit (entomology professors are an adventurous bunch!), we’ve all unintentionally eaten them because the FDA actually allows a certain amount of insect fragments in our everyday foods!”

- she has a cat, Cayenne (“the most beautiful tabby you’ll ever see”) and that she and her fiancé recently adopted a senior Turkish Angora, named Zeus.
- she loves photographing severe storms! “I lived in Missouri and Oklahoma for ten years and I miss the exciting weather so much! Hands down, my coolest, most surreal experience was getting to witness and chase a tornado that came through Stillwater while I was a graduate student at OSU!”

We are happy to have Natalie in the nursery sharing her gifts of organization, energy, humor, and enthusiasm with our youngest parishioners. Please stop by to welcome her

If you haven't had a chance to read the youth-written blog posts, they are definitely worth a look!

Special thanks to St. Andrew's Daughters of the King group for carrying out a secret prayer partner effort for these young people! Each Daughter committed to pray for one of the pilgrims before and during pilgrimage, and then wrote notes to them which they opened in Arizona mid-week.

Please come hear more about the trip at the Fall Kick-Off on Sunday September 8 at 9 a.m. The pilgrims will share reflections and photos from their journey!

COMMUNITY CAFÉ

The Café is open every Thursday from 5 p.m.- 7 p.m.

Everyone is welcome regardless of means or circumstances.

Donations are accepted, but are never expected.

If you would like to volunteer, please contact Ron Rovanseck at (714) 514-8875

Thank you as always for supporting the Café.

Planting an extra row The Café relies heavily on donations for fresh ingredients and we know St. Andrew's is full of avid gardeners. Please consider planting an extra row of vegetables or fruit in your home garden for donation. The chefs would love to have your eggplant, tomatoes, watermelon, peppers and anything else you can spare for use in their soups, salads and entrees. The Café also boasts a take-home table; items not used in the meals will go on that table for patrons to take with them. Please label and drop off your donations during the week in the Canterbury Hall kitchen.

As we prepare for the new choir season, We would like to invite all interested children (ages 7 to 14) AND their parents to a lunch after the 10 a.m. service at on August 25th. All food and drink will be provided. ### REASONS TO SING IN THE YOUTH CHOIR

1. Children who get involved in church are more likely to stay involved.
2. Learning to read and sing music from the printed page gives children a sense of mastery.
3. Being part of a creative community is transformative.
Out of this community comes beauty—a beauty that can only happen in the context of that community.
All the parts work together to become greater than their sum. It's not just musical, it's biblical.
4. Extensive memorization of words and music stimulates a child's intellectual development.
Studies have shown that kids who do music also do better in other areas of school.
5. Singing in public develops a child's self-esteem and confidence.
6. The choir gives value to children as worshipers.
Children are as much the 'now' of the church as are adults
